Frankfort, Ky., Jan. 19. Senator Eaton was forced to decide against the anti-unit men on the proposition.

In the Senate.

The senate accepted an invitation to attend a woman's suffrage meeting in Frankfort.

Caught in Ice Gorge, Paducah and Evansville Packet, John L. Lowry, With Passengers Aboard, in Peril

Wolfe Creek Mass is Carrying Everything Before it as it Comes Down Ohio River
---Little Damage Reported.

Evansville, Ind., Jan. 19.—The new passenger steamer John L. Lowry, running between Paducah and Evansville, with 35 passengers aboard is headed upstream under a full head of steam in an effort to reach safety from the gorge. All efforts to signal the steamer and have the captain turn downstream have failed. The Lowry is believed to be near Alverton, Ind. The ice gorge has cut off all places of safety for the steamer.

Evansville Apprehensive.

Evansville, Ind., Jan. 19.—Thousands of persons, living along the Ohio, are watching anxiously the approach of the ice gorge, which broke at Leavenworth yesterday, and which is sweeping down, crushing everything in its path. Estimates of the damage reach $500,000. Many loaded barges and small craft have been lost.

The Wolfe creek gorge passed Newburg at 9 o'clock today and is expected to pass here soon. The grinding ice can be heard miles. It is feared the gorge will stop at Horseshoe bend below and flood the lower part of the city. Those living in the lowlands on the Kentucky side opposite here are fleeing to higher grounds.

Little Damage Reported.

Louisville, Ky., Jan. 19. (Special.)—Reports all along the Ohio river show the gorge has passed without serious damage.

Mrs. Reeves has been confined to her bed several weeks and her condition became precarious yesterday, when she lost consciousness. The family is grouped about her bedside and death is expected at any time. Dr. J. G. Brooks, her physician, said today she could not recover, although every effort has been exerted by medical skill. Mrs. Reeves is a member of one of the most prominent families of Paducah and of high social standing, and her illness has caused sorrow among her many friends.

It is the fourth building that the company has been obliged to build during the last few years.

Work on the new building will start as soon as the weather opens up, and it is thought that it will be ready for occupancy by June 1. It will have a frontage of 75 feet and will extend back 125 feet. The cost will be about $6,500. The Singletree parts will be assembled in the building.

FLOATING DEBT OF CITY SCHOOLS MAKES INTEREST

City May be Asked to Wipe
the Slate Clean Once More.

Board Needs More Than 35 Cent Levy.

SOME ANCIENT OBLIGATIONS.

It is estimated that it will take $72,000 to run the public schools during 1910. This budget has been prepared, and will be presented to the general council at a future meeting. Of the amount $24,000 is expected from the state, while the city will be called upon to pay the remainder, $48,000.

The school budget will require over the 35 cents, which will net the school fund about $35,000. Under the law the schools are allowed only the 35 cent levy, but the council will be asked to assist the schools. More money is needed to run the schools than will be received. There is a floating debt of $6,000, which the school board is anxious to wipe out. The cost of the installation of a heat plant in the Franklin school which amount to at least $3,000.

The board cut the floating almost half last year, and while the debt creates an annual interest account, no payment can be made on the principal this year without depriving the schools. As the same taxpayers, who support the city must stand the interest, it is considered economy for the city to wipe out the debt, which was not created by this board.

CLARK HOWELL IS NOT SO SANGUINE

NOMINEE OF DEMOCRATIC PARTY.

New Orleans, La., Jan. 19.—Clark Howell, editor of the Atlanta Constitution and the oldest member of the Democratic national committee in point of service, says the party is in a deplorable condition. "The present fight among Republicans will not diminish their strength," he says. "If Harmon carries Ohio next fall, he will be the presidential nominee in 1912." Howell says the Republicans have been rowing 40 years, but when the election comes they present a uniform front. Democracy is disorganized, he says, and it will take sixteen years to put it into form. He declares he is not for a southern man to head the party in the presidential year, but for Harmon, if he carries Ohio again.

MR. W. E. COCHRAN BUYS OUT PARTNER

Mr. Sutherland will take a rest before engaging in other business, and has not announced what vocation he will follow. However, he will engage in a business that does not require the confinement of a retail store, owing to the fact that his general health has not been good for some time. Mr. Sutherland has several offers and he may remove to St. Louis, but has not decided definitely. He has been connected with the firm for many years and has made many friends. Mr. Sutherland is secretary of the school board.

Republicans to Consider Tonight at Their Caucus What to Do About Congressmen James and Rainey

Our Ollie and Another Democratic Colleague Are Feared For Their Propensity to Make Political Capital.

Washington, Jan. 19.—Will Republican members of the house dare to carry out their threat of striking the names of Democratic Representatives James and Rainey from the Ballinger-Pinchot investigation committee? If they do, and appoint a couple of Democrats of their own choosing, will the minority members consent to serve? In either event will the Democrats make more political capital out of the situation than they would if James and Rainey were allowed to serve without molestation? These are questions perplexing the Republicans today. The subject will be threshed out at the Republican caucus tonight and on the floor of the house tomorrow.

In the House.

Washington, Jan. 19.—Without debate and by a viva voce vote the house adopted the conference report on the Ballinger-Pinchot inquiry resolution and devoted almost five hours

Trains are being held in the vicinity of Judith Gap, which has been the scene of two disastrous wrecks because of the storms. No suffering among passengers is reported. There has been an unprecedented snowfall this winter, but aside from the delay of trains, this will have a beneficial result through the improvement of the ranges and farm conditions.

FORTY GIRLS ARE BURNED TO DEATH IN FACTORY FIRE

Shirtwaist Makers Penned in Building That Lacks Fire Escapes.

Terrible Scenes When They Scream in Last Agony.

MANY JUMP TO THEIR DOOM.

Philadelphia, Jan. 19.—More than 40 girls are reported killed by fire at noon today in the Sheddaker shirtwaist factory. Five bodies have been recovered. Shut off from escape, about 500 girls were imprisoned in the upper floors. Many jumped and were seriously injured. More than 30 have been removed to hospitals.

Five hundred girls were employed in the factory, with only one fire escape to the building. Eight were killed in jumping from windows of the second and third stories. Others it is believed are incinerated in the building.

While the girls were still crowded in the windows the walls fell in with a crash. Fire Chief Baxter declares he believes more than 40 are dead. There is no way of judging the real number of fatalities yet.

The walls cracked and swayed as the firemen desperately fought to get the girls out, making it impossible to make any headway in fighting the fire. Some of those in the upper floors were roasted to death and their cries of agony made the scene horrible.

The fire is believed to have been caused by an explosion of gasoline on the first floor. It leaped up the stairway, cutting off egress, and the girls ran to the front windows, instead of the fire escape in the rear. When they turned and ran back it was too late. It was cut off.

Rescuers were compelled to leave the scene as they could not stand the sights. The pavement is spattered with blood, where the girls jumped. The rear walls and roof collapsed at 12:30, cutting off the girls, who might possibly be alive.

CITY HALL

EQUIPMENT IS ARRIVING AND BEING INSTALLED.

Linoleum Arrives and Elevator Is Expected Next Week—Furniture Not Here.

Linoleum for the offices and halls at the city hall arrived this morning and is being fitted to the floors. Both the council and aldermen's halls are already fitted out with the fine quality of covering. Mayor Smith's office will be on the third floor in the northwest corner of the building. His office will be papered and carpeted and new furnishings will be installed. Everything is complete in the way of improvements with the exception of the lights and fixtures. The electric elevator is expected this week or next. In removing the metal fixtures from the city clerk's old office on the second floor to the new third floor office the vault in the new office was found to be a trifle larger than the old. This will make it more convenient, as extra filings may be installed at any time.

SENATOR EATON LAYS THE BLAME

ON COUNTY BOARDS OF EQUALIZATION.

Therefore He Declares There Is No Need For Remedial Legislation.

RESOLUTION IS ADOPTED ? ? ?

Frankfort, Ky., Jan. 19.—Senator Eaton, of Paducah, has found the way to clear the debt of the state without issuing a bond for $1,000,000. He wants the property of the state assessed at something like its real value and then he says he thinks there will be plenty of money raised to pay off the indebtedness of the state. Senator Eaton has no fears of expressing his opinion in the senate regardless of where his words fall, in this matter, however, he quotes the report of the board of equalization. It is likely that his suggestion will be adopted and that there will be no bond issue.

It was hinted today by one of the members of the legislature that within the next few days, a legal proceeding will be started in the circuit court to mandamus Auditor James to pay off with interest bearing warrants, and then this matter will be settled. If the court holds that Auditor James must pay off with interest bearing warrants, then the banks will wait until the money is collected through the increased assessment to pay off the debt.

Senator Eaton made known his ideas of raising money to be used in paying off the state's indebtedness in introducing a resolution in the senate yesterday. It follows:

Whereas, It has been called to the attention of the general assembly by his excellency, the governor of Kentucky, that the finances of the state are so depleted that the current expenses of the state cannot be met; that there exists a large deficit in the treasury; that the revenues provided by law and based on the present assessed valuation of property are insufficient to defray the accruing obligations of the state, and

Whereas, It is provided by section 172 of the constitution that "all property, not exempt from taxation by the constitution, shall be assessed for taxation at its fair cash value,"

And it is further provided by section 4274 Kentucky statutes (1909) "that the board of equalization shall fix the percentage of assessed value of real property at its fair cash value, and all counties whose average lists of real property fall below such value shall be raised to the same;" and by section 4275 it is further provided that said board is authorized in like manner to equalize the assessed valuation of personal property.

Equalization Boards Report.

The state board of equalization for the year 1909 in its report to the governor says in part: "Inasmuch as no county in the state has listed either its real or personal property at its fair cash valuation as the law provides there was not a single county in the state in which the assessed valuation as returned by the assessor was reduced, and the board of equalization has endeavored to raise the counties showing a lower valuation sufficiently to equal those whose assessed valuation is more nearly in conformity to the law."

Be it therefore resolved by the general assembly of the commonwealth of Kentucky:

That there exists no immediate

After La Grippe

"I had suffered several weeks with LaGrippe. Had pains in my head and eyes. It felt as though there was a heavy weight on the top of my head, until it seemed that my brain would burst. I was so nervous that I could not rest or sleep. When I dozed off I would awake with a sudden jerking of my whole body. Dr. Miles' Nervine, Heart Remedy and Nerve and Liver Pills cured me. A number of friends have since realized the same benefits."

MRS. ALVIN H. LOCKS,

The after effects of LaGrippe are often more serious than the disease, as it leaves the system in a weakened condition that invites more serious troubles, such as pneumonia, etc.

OLD FIRE STATION

MAY BE OCCUPIED BY THE NEWS-DEMOCRAT.

Property on North Fourth Street
Bought By Friedman &
Keller.

It is current on the streets that the old Central fire station, which was purchased from the city by Friedman & Keller, will be remodeled and used as a home for the News-Democrat. The fire department will not leave the present building before April 1, and the newspaper can not occupy it before May or June.

Extensive repairs will be necessary. New floors, a new ceiling and front are needed, but the walls are good. The building is narrow, but is long and will enable all of the mechanical equipment to be placed on the ground floor with the business office. There is sufficient space on the second floor for the editorial rooms.

The building was one of the first public buildings when the city was incorporated. For many years it served as the city hall and jail, but in 1877 was turned over to the fire department when it became a paid organization. It is conceded generally that the city received an excellent price for the site.

On this day appeared before me,

R. D. MacMillen, business manager of The Sun, who affirms the above statement is true, to the best of his knowledge and belief.

PETER PURYEAR,

Notary Public, McCracken Co. Ky.

My commission expires January

10, 1912.

Daily Thought.

The fact that you cannot get along with this universe does not indicate that you are ordained to rule in another.—Henry F. Cope.

That Baltimore heiress, who married to get even, lost. She drew an odd number.

Louisville has a bill before the legislature to cut her school board to five members. Where is our bill?

Deep waterway advocates have not yet quite recovered from the bump

they got when President Taft recommended the "nine foot stage from Pittsburgh to Cairo" and forgot the

"fourteen feet through the valley."

In Brooklyn, N. Y., two holdup men shot a man's toe off because he had only $3 when they held him up.

Contemplate what they would do to a fellow who is "clean broke."—

Owensboro Inquirer.

If it had been a woman, now,

some of her hidden wealth might have rolled out.

Republican insurgents acknowledge that they have been put in a hole by their Democratic allies. They only wished to insure a genuine investigation of the Ballinger-Pinchot case, and expected two conservative

Democrats to be named. How conservative our own Ollie James is,

when he has an opportunity to hit a Republican administration, we all know, and Rainey is usually inspired, so they say, by the same

non-partisan spirit as James.

WHAT THE SCHOOLS GET.

Bills are introduced, providing for county trustee officers, for medical examiners for schools and $3 per diem for school trustees. The cause of education is receiving attention at the hands of the peanut politicians;

but not the kind, perhaps, the school agglutators expected. This little graft becomes insignificant compared to the plan of placing all the teachers,

their pay, their rating, their schools and their books in the hands of an elected state superintendent. That will be a more influential job than being governor. If the bill passes,

And Kentucky now has at the head of her system a school man for the first time in 25 years.

WHERE THE CITY LOSES.

It may seem fair at first glance for the city to pay half the salary of a county probation officer, on the ground that most of his duties lie within the city; but when one considers the fact that the citizens of Paducah pay by far the greater part of the county taxes, it occurs to him that this makes the city pay practically all the salary of the probation officer, who is appointed by and made responsible to an officer elected by the rural vote. Some day this sort of injustice to cities will be corrected.

Of course, we must consider that the country is as valuable to the city as the city is to the country, and the money spent on country roads and bridges benefits the city as the market place; but there is an immense aggregate of salaries paid to officials at the court house, taxes are levied

by men who live outside the city,

paid by people who live in the city,

and all, save what goes into public movings, is spent outside the city.

Two Reels, big drainage proposition, is attended to, would showwestern section of

foundations and stop

ding through the hollow from the Hinkleville road to the mouth of Island creek, and benefit property out to the hills west of the city. It is clearly a county work, yet the county officials, fearing the rural vote, refused to join the city and bear a small portion of the expense. The fact remains that nearly all the money the county would have spent, would have been contributed by the same people, who pay city taxes, but it is the policy of the county to take the city people's money and spend it in the rural magisterial districts.

The probation officer law is simply the ill-conceived notion of ignorant legislators; but that drainage question should be revived and put up to the county administration to see if the city taxpayers cannot get some direct returns from their revenues.

BLISSFUL IGNORANCE.

If ignorance is bliss, our local morning contemporary must be in an exceedingly merry mood when it approaches public questions, as evidenced by its innocent attempt at sarcasm this morning in reference to Governor Willson's trip to Washington, where he presided at the opening of the meeting of governors. One paragraph in particular—the paragraph, no doubt, which the writer thought contained the sting of it all—strikes a responsive chord in the heart of one, who enjoy unconscious humor. It runs:—

"Strange to (sic) these fits of departure from the scene of duty have a way of coming on him when some important question is before him for disposition. The duty of assigning the local option bill to a senate committee was before his face, and instead of facing the issue (delightful paradox) squarely he at once hides himself to Washington and leaves the matter to Lieutenant Governor Cox."

If the same paper has not been so profuse in its compliments of Senator Eaton for aiding in defeating a rule, which would take such authority out of the hands of the lieutenant governor and place it in the hands of the president pro tem of the senate, we could assign some cause for so gross a blunder. It may be the editor does not read any paper excepting his own and does not know that the senate has been adjourning from day to day, because the lieutenant governor is not presiding and nobody, not even the president pro tem himself, wishes the temporary presiding officer to assign the county bill. If Governor Willson did have the right to assign bills to committees, a very different story would be written about this session of the legislature.

But while we are on the subject of blundering editorial comments, we might as well refer to an enlightening treatise Tuesday morning concerning the governor's appointment of state auditor's agents, and their compromising tax suits. The governor does not appoint these officers and the law specifically prohibits their making compromises without the concurrence of the county attorneys.

Emmett Hoover, 20, accidentally shoots himself at Henderson.

James White, convicted of assault on white girl at Middlesboro, given death sentence.

Dr. W. L. Nuttall, former superintendent of Feeble Minded Institute at Frankfort, declared insane.

SOME STORIES
AROUND TOWN

Dr. J. G. Brooks has received a special invitation from Hon. William O. Smith, president of the senate of Honolulu, Hawaii, to attend the annual Floral parade there, which begins February 22. The celebration there is attended by thousands from all parts of the world annually but Dr. Brooks will not be able to make the trip this year. Mr. Smith and Dr. Brooks are close friends and former school chums. The parade is advertised everywhere by attractive posters. Also post cards, heralding the occasion, have been sent abroad. It says those attending can be assured of ideal weather as they have no other kind.

Senate Wishes to Know.

Washington, Jan. 19.—After cleaning up the calendar by passing about forty bills, a majority of them of a private character, the senate adopted a resolution requesting the secretary of the treasury to advise the senate if the newspaper report is true that the custom house at Newport News will be closed in observance of the anniversary of Gen. R. E. Lee's birthday.

FOWLER MAY LEAD G. O. P.REGARDED AS THE STRONGEST REPUBLICAN IN TENNESSEE.At Present He Is Assistant Attorney General of the United States—Succeeded Sanford.

SLATED FOR GOVERNORSHIP.

Nashville, Tenn., Jan. 19.—From present indications it appears that Hon. James A. Fowler, of Knoxville, may have the gubernatorial nomination at the hands of the Republican party of Tennessee this year if he wants it. The names of Dr. R. Q. Lillard, of Lebanon, John Overall, of Nashville, G. N. Tillman, of Nashville, Asbury Wright, of Rockwood, R. S. Sharp, of Chattanooga, and A. Taylor, of Knoxville, have been mentioned in this connection, but the present "tip" is that Mr. Fowler is being most favorably considered, provided he can be induced to accept.

Mr. Fowler is at present assistant attorney-general of the United States having succeeded Judge E. T. Sanford in that position.

Leaders of the Republican party in this state declare that Mr. Fowler is considered as perhaps the strongest man they could select as their state leader this year.

TOBACCO

MOVEMENT WILL BEGIN IN ABOUT TEN DAYS.Association Warehouses Not Expecting Consignments This Week.

"We are not making an effort to sell tobacco just at present," said Mr. M. M. Tucker warehouseman for the Planters' Protective association here today. "Tobacco is moving slowly and will not begin coming in from the other parts of the western district before about ten days." However, Mr. Tucker believes there will be a big movement here in the next few weeks.

He explained that tobacco all over this district has been shipped to pricing houses and the pricing is about completed. Immediately after this work is finished shipments will be made here. The new salesman, Mr. U. N. Farmer, of Murray, will not take charge here until the movement begins. So far no additional storehouse has been arranged for and this will probably not be done before some time until the shipments necessitate more room.

A small amount of the crop is on hand here at present. Buyers will be plentiful and good prices will be paid for the unusually excellent weed this season.

RAILROAD NOTES

L. E. McCabe, assistant superintendent of the Louisville division, was in the city today conducting an investigation of a small rear-end freight wreck several days ago. A caboose was derailed, but nobody was injured and little damage was done.

Harry Judd, the popular pattern-maker, was taken ill with malaria fever yesterday. Today his condition was only slightly improved.

A wrench fell yesterday afternoon and struck Ike Alsmann, a carpenter, on the head. A gash about an inch long was cut and he was knocked unconscious for a short time.

Theodore Roeder and Frank Milliken were in Central City yesterday on business.

U. H. Clark, division storekeeper, has returned from Birmingham, Ala., where he completed a trip over the division.

Mr. Duke Caldwell returned this morning from Chicago, where he went on business.

Fred McCree has returned to work after a slight illness with the grip.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE.

Notice to Parents.

The new term of the public schools opens Monday morning, January 31, 1910. Every child that expects to start to school should be ready for that day. Parents having children not vaccinated should have that done at once and not wait until the term begins. New classes are formed in all studies and parents should see that all of their children of school age start promptly.

All children six years of age or over will be admitted if vaccinated and otherwise eligible.

Remember that a good start and prompt and regular attendance are necessary if children are to do good work in school. Very truly,

J. A. CARNAGEY, Supt.
January 17, 1910.

to further discussion of the urgent deficiency appropriation bill.

The session was somewhat enlivened by a criticism of Roosevelt by Representatives Harrison and Fitzgerald, of New York, the former denouncing him for appointing the representatives to the third maritime conference to be held at Brussels in April without due authority of law, and the latter because of his numerous violations of the civil service law.

Cannon ruled that Roosevelt acted without specific authority of law in appointing the representatives to the Brussels conference, by sustaining

Harrison's point of order against an appropriation for the continuance of the service of these representatives.

When Fitzgerald called attention to a letter from the secretary of the treasury requesting that the government employ appointed temporary-ly and by executive order be placed on the permanent roll under the civil service law, Harrison again attacked

Roosevelt, declaring that he violated

the spirit of the civil service law 168 times, or fifteen more times than any of his predecessors.

Tawney, in charge of the bill, resented Harrison's charges, and Gillett, of Massachusetts, declared Roosevelt excepted only a small number of persons compared to Cleveland.

By a vote of 43 to 33 the appropriation of employes for work in connection with the currency was sustained. The increased cost of living was brought into the debate by Fitzgerald when the provision for an additional appropriation for army rations, owing to the advance in prices, was brought up.

"It's the maladministration of the Republicans that has caused these increased prices," Fitzgerald declared, amid Republican laughter. "You may as well make a confession now."

The Favored Countries.

Washington, Jan. 19.—The president issued a proclamation declaring that under the new tariff law Italy, Great Britain, Russia, Spain, Turkey and Switzerland are entitled to the minimum rates imposed by that act. Proclamations, which are identical, state that as said government "impose no terms or restrictions in the way of the tariff provisions, trade or other regulations, charges or exaction, or in any other manner, directly or indirectly, upon the importation into or sale in said country of any products of the United States, which unduly discriminate against the United States or the products thereof, and that said government pays no export bounty on or imports no export duty or prohibition upon the exportation of any articles to United States which unduly discriminates against the United States or the products thereof, and that said government accords to products of the United States treatment which is reciprocal and equivalent."

It is thereupon proclaimed that all articles imported into the United States from other countries be admitted under the minimum tariff prescribed by the tariff act of 1909. The proclamation takes effect March 31.

In connection with the proclamation there was made public a table showing the total trade of the six countries, with the share of the United States therein also showing the imports and exports of the United States with the six countries for 1909, together with an increase as compared to the year 1899.

The importations from Great Britain increased 76.1 per cent, from Italy 98.5 per cent, Russia 160.9 per cent, Spain 173.6 per cent, Switzerland 60.7 per cent, and Turkey 129.2 per cent. Exports from the United States to these countries for 1909 show increases as follows: United Kingdom, 56 per cent; Italy, 133.7 per cent; Russia, 72.2 per cent; Spain, 116.8; Switzerland, 180.4 per cent; Turkey, 382.2 per cent.

STRENGTH

Without Overloading the Stomach.
The business man, especially, needs food in the morning that will not overload the stomach, but give mental vigor for the day.
Much depends upon the start a man gets each day, as to how he may expect to accomplish the work on hand.
He can't be alert with a heavy, fried-meat-and-potatoes breakfast requiring a lot of vital energy in digesting it.
A Calif. business man tried to find some food combination that would not overload the stomach in the morning, but that would produce energy.
He writes:
"For years I was unable to find a breakfast food that had nutrition enough to sustain a business man without overloading the stomach, causing indigestion and kindred ailments."
"Being a very busy and also a very nervous man, I decided to give up breakfast altogether. But luckily I was induced to try Grape-Nuts."
"Since that morning I have been a new man; can work without tiring, my head is clear and my nerves strong and quiet."
"I find four teaspoonfuls of Grape Nuts with one of sugar and a small quantity of cold milk, make a delicious morning meal, which invigorates me for the day's business."
Read the little book, "The Road to Wellville," in pkgs. "There's a Reason."
Ever read the above letter. A new one appears from time to time. They are genuine, true, and full of human interest.

IN SOCIAL CIRCLES

Miss Jennie Anderson and Mr. Rutledge of Memphis marry here.
A marriage, the announcement of which will be of much interest to the many friends of the bride in Paducah, was that of Miss Jennie V. Anderson, of Memphis, and Mr. C. Buford Rutledge, also of Memphis, which was quietly solemnized at high noon today at the Fountain Avenue Methodist church, of this city. The ceremony was pronounced by the Rev. George W. Banks, pastor of that church, and a former pastor of the bride. The only witnesses were Mr. and Mrs. Paul E. Stutz, of this city, intimate friends of the bride.
The couple arrived at noon from Memphis and went direct to the church, where the ceremony was impressively pronounced. The bride was becomingly gowned in a stylish tailored suit of wisteria cloth with hat and gloves of harmonizing shades.
The bride is an attractive young woman of lovable character, with a host of friends in Paducah, her girlhood home. She is a daughter of Mr. J. H. Anderson, formerly a popular conductor on the Illinois Central, running out of Paducah. Several years ago the family moved to Memphis, but Miss Anderson has frequently visited her friend, Mrs. Stutz, here. It was her desire to be quietly married in Paducah, at the church of which she was a devoted member and by her former pastor in Memphis, the Rev. G. W. Banks. Mr. Rutledge is also known here. He travels for an Electrical Supply company, with headquarters in Memphis, and makes Paducah in his trips. He is a popular young man.
Mr. and Mrs. Rutledge will be the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Stutz, 529 Jefferson street, until Friday, when they will return to Memphis.

A Double Wedding.

A double wedding of much interest in Odd Fellow circles took place last night at 8 o'clock when Miss Myrtle Launa Adams and Mr. William R. Kinsey and Miss Nora Jettie Bowland and Mr. Clarence Goodman were married. The ceremony took place in the lodge room in the Three Links building, and was witnessed by a large audience of friends of the couples. Both of the brides are members of the Ingleside lodge of Rebekahs, while the grooms are officers in the Mangum lodge of Odd Fellows.
The lodge room was prettily decorated in a color scheme of green and white. The rostrum was a bank of palms and ferns and formed a pretty background for the ceremony. Above the couples was suspended a large wedding bell formed of fern leaves and white carnations. A path-way down to the rostrum was marked off with white ribbons. The attendants entered from the right and left entrances to the hall, meeting at the aisle and marching down near the rostrum. There were eighteen attendants, members of the Rebekahs. They were dressed in white and formed a column on each side of the aisle. They were: Misses Ruby Mayer, Nellie Hotchkiss, Sarah McPheeters, Clara Lee, Lillian Kettler, and Mesdames E. T. McKinney, O. T. Davis, Oscar Denker, Charles Denker, Mary Lee, Florence Gary, Dan Orr, Samuel Whitmer, George Watts, Isabelle Verlett, Jettie Elliott, W. H. Force and Mamie Block.
Next entered the bridesmaids and groomsmen. Miss Bessie Lou Watts and Mr. Will Rouse entered from the left, while Miss Katie Block and Mr. Allison Watts entered from the right and passed to the sides of the altar. Preceding the couples were little Misses Gertrude and Grace Skelton, who were the flower girls. Miss Adams and Mr. Kinsey entered from the left and Miss Bowland and Mr. Goodman entered from the right. At the aisle they met and marched to the altar, where they were met by the Rev. M. E. Dodd, pastor of the First Baptist church, who pronounced the ceremony impressively.
Miss Etta Beckenbach presided at the piano and as a processional played the Mendelssohn wedding march, while during the ceremony she softly played "Call Me Thine Own." The brides wore white with veils caught with lilacs-of-the-valley, and they carried a shower of bride's roses. Mrs. Watts wore a pink gown made in princess style and trimmed with cream lace, and carried pink carnations. Miss Block wore a blue dress trimmed with lace, and carried tinted carnations. The little flower girls wore pale blue tarleton.
After the ceremony the Odd Fellows and Rebekah lodges entertained with a dance and reception in the hall on the first floor. Later the bridal party was present at a luncheon at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Crowell, 418 North Fourth street. Early this morning the couples left for New Orleans and other southern cities on a bridal trip. They will be at home in Paducah after February 1.
Mrs. Kinsey came to Paducah two years ago from Jonesboro, Ark., and since residing in the city has made many friends. Mrs. Goodman is the eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Bowland and a popular young woman. Mr. Kinsey is the only son of Mrs. Allen Kinsey, of South Eleventh street. He is the noble grand of the Mangum lodge. Mr. Goodman was reared in Paducah, is well known in the city. Both young men are employees of the Illinois Central railroad shops.

LIGHT AND POWER AND ELKS VICTORS

THEY MAINTAIN PERFECT PERCENT AT BASKETBALL.

Three Teams in the City League Are Now Tied for First Place in Columbus.

Teams.	W.	L.	Pct.
L. & P. ....	2	0	.1000
Elks .....	2	0	.1000
C. C. & W. ....	1	0	.1000
D. A. D. ....	1	1	.500
High School ..	0	1	.000
Indians .....	0	2	.000
K. of C. ....	0	2	.000

Standing in the percentage column was unchanged last night as a result of the two basketball games. The Elks won from the Indians after a hot struggle by a score of 16 to 11, while the Light and Power team conquered the Knights of Columbus 13 to 6. Both games were full of enthusiasm, and were contested bitterly until the final second.

The hardest fought game was between the Indians and the Elks. Both had an even chance for victory. At the end of the first half the score was a tie, 7-7. The Elks played a good game, but the Indians fought like the braves of old, and for a while threatened to scalp the pale-faces. In the second half the game waxed hot again. The score was tied again, 11-11, but in the last few minutes of play the Elks forged ahead and won the game by a comfortable margin of five points.

The Knights of Columbus team showed some improvement last night, and held their opponents down to a fair score. There was little doubt as to the outcome of the game, as the Light and Power team led all the way, but the players were compelled to work all the time. At the beginning of the second half the score stood 9 to 4.

The line-ups last night were: Elks—Cox, center; Goodman and Sutton, forwards; Martin, Henneberger and Johnson, guards. Indians—Truheart, center; Bogliort and Hatfield, forwards; Shelton and Harbour, guards. L. & P.—Pettin-gill, center; Reburn and Hodge, guards; Simpson and C. Davis, forwards. K. C.—J. Fisher, center; Mulvin and Gockel, forwards; Donnegan and Hunter, guards. The officials were: Lydon, referee; Wilson, umpire; Davis and Craig, timekeepers; Browning, scorer.

Next Friday night the C. C. & W. and the L. & P. fives will play and a battle royal is promised. The High school and the Indians will also play.

Girls Play Tonight.
Tonight the first and second girls' teams of the High school will play, and some good sport is expected. The girls have developed two fast teams and there is intense rivalry between the fives as to the supremacy. Between the halves there will be wrestling matches and boxing exhibitions between some of the aspiring young athletes of the city.

Passes.
The L. & P. team has several college men in the lineup, and the team will be in the race. The C. C. & W. will have a hard game Friday night when the fives is tackled.

The Elks have developed in great style. Last season the Elks lacked team work as well as spirit, but this season the team has both.

Henneberger became sick last night and had to retire, Johnson taking his place.

Many penalties for fouls and holding were made last night and it continued it will do much to break it up. Some of the players hug the ball like they were on the gridiron.

More team work is needed by the Knights of Columbus before the team will be in the race. The lodge has had hard luck in getting out players for practice.

IN WRECK

100 PEOPLE ARE MORE OR LESS INJURED.

Bad Railroad Accident Happens in Northwest—Some of the Injured May Die.

Bismarck, N. D., Jan. 19.—Running at a high rate of speed, Northern Pacific west-bound passenger train No. 7 left the track one mile east of Blue Grass early last evening.

The two engines and all of the eight cars in the train, containing 190 passengers, went into the ditch. None of the passengers was killed, but all were more or less injured, more than a score seriously. The injured are mostly residents of North Dakota and Montana, with the exception of a few from Minnesota. It is thought a broken rail caused the accident.

A special train carrying all nurses and physicians in the city was sent from Mandan and returned with the injured today. The injured were cared for in private homes.

The following Minnesotans were injured: D. L. Fischnerding, car conductor, wrenched back; N. D. Lathrop, St. Paul, sprained shoulder; Wm. Highgate, St. Paul, arm and legs bruised; M. T. Johnson, St. Paul, hand and head injured; R. S. Coster, St. Paul, head and legs bruised; Fred K. Schmitze, Minneapolis, teeth knocked out; A. Sharkey, St. Paul, head and hands cut; Mary Flagle, Crow Wing, head badly cut; W. W. Tohes, thought to be from Milwaukee head cut, will probably die; Mrs. August Rierham, of Bloomer, Wis., shoulder broken.

TEN MILLION CONCERN GOES INTO BANKRUPTCY.

Cleveland, O., Jan. 19. — Judge Taylor appointed George A. Garretson, president of the Bank of Commerce, and S. P. Shane, general manager of the Gilchrist Transportation company, receivers for the latter concern, which is a ten million corporation. Each is under $50,000 bond. Poor business is given as the cause of failure. The application for receiver was made by Frank W. Gilchrist, of Alpena, Mich.

The company is one of the largest vessel owners on the great lakes. It owns 57 steamers and four barges. Heavy loans were negotiated in the last two years to enable the company to increase the size of its fleet. Gilchrist alleges the company owes two and a half millions.

He can never know men who will not stop to know children.

MORE GOOD WORK DONE BY QUAKER

Mrs. Lula Hill Reports Wonderful Improvement.

Mrs. Lula Hill, who resides at 614 South Eighth street, suffered for nearly a year from stomach trouble. Also complain's peculiar to her sex. She had a hard time getting her breath, was distressed after eating and generally in a very much run down condition. Had dizzy spells and at times was entirely unfit for work. She called at McPherson's drug store, a week ago, obtained a treatment of Quaker Extract. She used it faithfully, and yesterday she came back and claimed she had received more benefit from the first bottle than from anything she had used during the entire period of her ailment. She wants anyone who is interested to investigate and will answer any question pertaining to her case.

Another report came today from Mrs. Bethshears, wife of the well-known judge, who had indigestion and dyspepsia for quite a while. She has found great relief from the use of her first bottle of Quaker Extract.

These are only a few of the many reports that are received each day and plainly go to show the wonderful curative properties of these famous remedies.

He said he would prove to the public here that the Quaker Remedies would cure where any and all others had failed, and it now looks as though he was beginning to show even the most skeptical that he knew whereof he spoke. If you suffer from Catarrh in any form. Rheumatism, Kidney, Liver, Stomach or Blood troubles, come to McPherson's drug store, Fourth and Broadway, and if he thinks the Remedies will not benefit your particular case, he will not offer them to you. Therefore come with all confidence.

Quaker Extract is also a worm and germ destroyer, removing from the system any and all worms. At McPherson's drug store, corner Fourth and Broadway. Quaker Extract $1.00, 3 for $2.50; Oil of Balm (Liniment) 25c.

CONSERVE MEN SAY GOVERNORS

MANY USE WORD CONSERVATION IN BROADEST SENSE.

Value of Lost Products Would Run Government—Women Could Remedy Evils By Calling Voters' Attention.

NATURAL RESOURCES WASTED

Washington, Jan. 19.—A recent installment of messages from governors of various states on the subject of natural resources was made public by Mrs. Amos G. Draper, chairman of the special committee of the Daughters of the American Revolution, which has in charge this part of the organization's campaign of education. Aside from the testimonials directly to the subject of the importance of the conservation movement, some of the letters are more than ordinarily interesting in their reflection of the viewpoint and trend of mind of the distinguished writers.

Several of the governors entirely omit reference to what is ordinarily understood by the term "conservation of natural resources," and direct their messages to the subjects of morals, training of children and home life.

Gov. Charles E. Hughes, of New York, pays tribute in a very brief message to the general helpfulness attributable to women. His message is as follows:

"Women may help as much with respect to one matter of conservation as with respect to another, and it is hoped that all matters of conservation will engage their interest and support."

Walter E. Clark, the newly appointed governor of Alaska, declares himself more concerned immediately about development of resources than about their conservation. He says:

"Development Necessary."

"Although I deeply appreciate the interest of such organizations as yours in our general welfare, it is to be remembered that in this great virgin country, while not unmindful of the need of intelligent conservation, we are more immediately concerned with the rational and progressive development of our resources."

Gov. George R. Colton, of Porto Rico, addresses himself entirely to ethical considerations. Here is his message:

"I would suggest the following lines along which conservation work could and should be carried on in this island, with a view to the welfare of its women:

"First—Dissemination of the idea that it is greater to serve than be served.

"Second—Care of humanity by scientific effort to check the ravages of prevalent diseases.

"Third—Systematic instruction of mothers as to the proper care of infants and children.

"Fourth—Care and protection of young women by methods similar to those employed by the Young Women's Christian association, and event-

CAUSES DEBILITY.

Here Are Facts Backed Up By a Strong Guarantee.

Catarrh causes debility. In our opinion, most people suffering from general debility have catarrh. Such cases of debility cannot be completely cured by medicine not designed to eradicate catarrh. In every case where our remedy fails to give entire satisfaction we will not charge a cent for the medicine employed during the trial. Now, surely no one should hesitate to believe us or to put our claim to a practical test under such conditions. We will take all the risk; no one else can lose anything by the transaction.

We make these statements and this offer because we know and have time and again proved that Rexall Mucin-Tone rarely fails to do as we claim. It is not a cure-all prescribed to cure every disease that flesh is heir to. It is intended for one purpose, i. e., to cure catarrh by assailing the diseased condition in a reasonable, scientific way, which is to employ agents that have been found to have the tonic and alternative power to correct faulty metabolism (tissue change) and to stimulate and help nature overcome the cause or causes of catarrh. This being done, appetite increases, nutrition improves, weight is gained, comfort of body is attained and life's work taken up with the zest natural to the perfectly healthy individual.

We want you to try Rexall Mucin-Tone. Follow directions and take it regularly and consistently for a reasonable length of time. Then, if you are not satisfied, come back and tell us and the money you paid for the treatment will be returned without any argument whatever.

Rexall Mucin-Tone comes in two sizes, 50c and $1.00 a bottle. Sold only at our store.—The Rexall Store, W. B. McPherson, Fourth and Broadway.

ually the erection of an association building.

"Fifth—Care of the home and family by teaching future home makers in our schools the fundamental rules of domestic economy and instilling in them the essentials of family and social ethics."

Gov. Thomas R. Marshall, of Indiana, writes in similar vein. He says:

"Conservation of Men."

"Conservation of men and women is even more valuable than conservation of resources. If the Daughters of the American Revolution will seriously urge a stricter training and a more careful oversight by all mothers of their daughters, there will be less cause for complaint about the white slave traffic, and to no other subject do I believe could your organization give itself with a greater degree of usefulness or expect a larger reward."

Conservation of human life and health is the slogan of Gov. Adolph O. Eberhart, of Minnesota, who says in part:

"There is no field of conservation work in which women may be more helpful than in conserving human health and life. The most important of the care of the health of the child, America's standing army is the American child, and his health and strength are the very source of American greatness."

Gov. Judson Harmon, of Ohio, addresses himself especially to the women of that state who, he says, "can be of very great assistance to amelioration of conditions which tend to send the girls and boys to industrial schools, and to supplement the work of those institutions after the boys and girls have gone out therefrom by every form of encouragement in looking for and following up lives of honorable industry."

As for the subject of material conservation "which this state seems now most in need, and in which the women of the state may play no inconsiderable part," Gov. Harmon refers to a communication from Prof. W. R. Lazenby, of the Ohio State university as setting forth that subject.

Elevate Home Life.

From Wyoming Gov. Bryant B. Brooks sends a declaration that the women of that state are pursuing successfully three lines of social conservation. "First, their efforts to improve and elevate home life and home surroundings both in the cities and country, are very helpful. Second, their great interest in church work improves moral conditions and benefits society generally. Third, our Wyoming women take a great interest in educational work in all grades, and by frequent visits to our public schools and close attention to our compulsory educational laws encourage the teachers and increase school attendance. Aside from these three particular branches, the interest taken in civic improvement generally, as well as along many other lines, is most encouraging and unquestionably beneficial."

Conservation of morality and sobriety is the burden of the reply of Gov. C. H. Haskell, of Oklahoma, in whose opinion "first energies should be devoted to the conservation of the morals of the people of our several states. In Oklahoma, if we can accomplish this purpose by prohibition enforcement, and thus conserve the morals of all our people, their sober minds and high standard of intelligence and energy will accomplish conservation, progress and prosperity in many directions, and build in happiness and prosperity for the future, as well as the present."

Conserve Natural Resources.

The other governors whose messages were given out today speak more especially of the conservation of mines, forests and water supply. Gov. William E. Glasscock, of West Virginia, quotes the state geologists of that state as saying that "we are wasting 500,000,000 cubic feet of gas every day," enough, the governor says, to run many large mills and factories, and if sold at a reasonable price to provide more than sufficient revenue to meet the expenses of the state government.

The waste extends, Gov. Glasscock says, "to our coal, oil, soil and every natural resource with which we have been provided by an all-wise Providence. What can women do to help this great crisis? I answer, assist in calling these matters to the attention of the voters of the country, helping to educate the masses as to the crime we are committing against posterity. Whenever the intelligent citizenship shall have been fully informed on these subjects, then, and not until then, shall we see the evil which exists righted."

The substance of messages from the other governors includes these: Draper, of Massachusetts—"A greater conservation of forests and trees would result in our being able to develop very much more water power than at present."

Reclaim Idle Lands.

Potter, of Rhode Island—"Immediate steps should be taken to protect our woodlands from denudation and to promote reforestation on the idle land of the state. We should also proceed to some definite plan for acquiring an adequate fresh water supply in future years, both by protecting our watersheds and by making provision for the storage of waste waters."

Prouty, of Vermont—"The greatest effort in the line of conservation being carried on at this time in this state is looking toward the preservation of the forests, and incidentally our water powers. This seems to us a very important matter, and the last legislature provided for a state forester and for securing lands to be held as forest reserves."

Pennell, of Delaware—"Not having any minerals beneath the soil of this state, the only thing I conceive that would be the object of conservation is the fruit. I feel that anything that can be done to conserve the woodlands of our state should be encouraged."

Sanders, of Louisiana—"Louisiana has three important conservation problems—drainage, reclamation of our swamp and marsh lands and the conservation of our forests and of our inland waterways."

The one in which we are probably most vitally interested, just at this time, is that of the reclamation of our swamp and marsh lands. The reclamation of these lands will throw open to the settler millions of acres of the richest and finest agricultural lands in the world.

Sloan, of Arizona—"The branches of conservation work which especially concern the people of Arizona relate to the protection, development and wise use of our forests, public waters and grazing lands. There is a necessity for educative work directed toward the creation of a healthy public sentiment and conscience on the subject."

Morris, of Montana—"By virtue of my recommendations to the legislative assembly, laws conserving the lands and forests have been enacted. As yet no definite action has been taken toward conserving the water resources of the state. This is a very important problem and I am giving to its solution my earnest consideration."

Gov. Deneen, of Illinois, notes with pleasure the desire of the D. A. R. conservation committee to aid in any feasible way the work of conserving the state's natural resources, and says: "This work has been confined to a state commission, known as the state conservation commission, which will be glad to receive

CHAPTER VIII.
THE abruptness with which Brand separated from Nolan as they appeared aroused the suspicions of both the judge and his lobbyist satellite. However, they little imagined the pronounced seriousness of the conversation they had interrupted. In the mind of each ran the thought that the Advance's proprietor and his editor had been discussing the proposal to elect Nolan to the Oak Door club. Even a failure in this laudable venture they would have considered a serious setback, but probably had they an intimation regarding the story Brand wanted to write and the effort that was to be made to detect the judge in offering a money bribe they would have exhibited less of the easy assurance that marked their re-entrance into the drawing room.

"Mr. Nolan, I'm afraid I must be going," said Bartelmy. "I hope to see you at my house soon, and you, too, Wheeler."

Nolan rose from his chair.

"Judge, can you spare me a few moments?" put in Brand resolutely.

The judge gave a look of surprise.

"I was the reporter, Judge Bartelmy."

technically the judgment of the lower court in the Lansing Iron case and freezing out the small stockholders in favor of the insiders, as usual. Those, Judge Bartelmy, are my facts!"
Bartelmy made a desperate effort to retain his self control and to command his ability to think clearly and effectively in this dire emergency. At last he spoke after minutely scrutinizing the accusing figure of Brand before him.

"It's easily explained, Mr. Brand," he said in honeyed tones. "It's a lie; that is all it is. Your reporter lied."

"I was the reporter," exclaimed the accuser in a supremely contemptuous manner, and as he spoke he wondered and marveled that such a man as the betrayer, Bartelmy, could be the father of such a girl as Judith-Judith, whom he was even now, he was con-

"HOW ABOUT $10,000?" ASKED THE JUDGE.

"Certainly, my boy; certainly. Will you excuse me?" turning to Nolan. Nolan, surprised at the readiness of Brand to begin on the plan to entrap Bartelmy, readily assented and proceeded into the library with Dupuy.

"Well, Wheeler, what can I do for you?" asked Judith's father.
The young man stepped close to the other and faced him squarely.
"Judge, how about your latest decision in the Lansing Iron case today?" he asked.
Bartelmy started back in surprise.
"It was in accordance with the statutes and the constitution," he finally said.
"The supreme court of the United States was at variance with you in a similar case," advised Brand.
"Sir," indignantly, "I decline to discuss out of court questions relating to my conduct on the bench."
The judge moved as though to go.
"You weren't so particular this morning," Bartelmy began to lose his confident, easy pose.
"I fail to comprehend you," he answered.
"Early this morning, between 1 o'clock and 3," went on the unrelenting editor.
The judge turned his head to one side and tugged nervously at his gray beard.
"A reporter for the Advance saw you come out of your house at four minutes to 1 and walk to a house on Washington avenue that belongs to the attorney for the Lansing Iron corporation."
Bartelmy turned his back on Brand, a furtive look coming into his eyes as he did so.
"You knocked at the servants' door, judge," continued the editor. "This man admitted you. One hour and fifty-seven minutes later you left that house by the same door and returned home rapidly on foot. You kept your coat collar turned up, and contrary to your usual custom, you wore a slouched hat pulled down over your eyes. Half an hour later Dupuy came out of the same house. Ten hours later you handed down your decision reversing on a bribe with Nolan. Oh, they were a cunning pair! Had even fooled Dupuy, who thought them dangerous. And what a son-in-law Brand would make! Yes, he could have Judith; he was worthy to possess the reigning beauty of a great city. So argued to himself the false judge, and he said:

"Of course I am willing to meet you halfway, but it all depends on whether we understand each other."

"Your decision was doubtless of some value to you, and if I am willing to keep silent about its antecedent circumstances then"—Brand looked the judge in the eye expectantly.

Bartelmy felt relieved. He felicitated himself on the fact that his judgment had been correct.

"Yes; you?" He halted.

"Why?" Brand paused.

"Well?" queried the judge irritably.

"There you are," responded Brand simply, his eyes meeting those of the jurist.

Bartelmy glanced cautiously at the editor, seeking for signs of deception, of a trap, but he found them not.

"Mr. Brand, what do you want?" he asked sharply.

"What is it worth to you?"

"I would prefer you to set the figure."

"No."

"How about $10,000?" asked the judge.

"Yes," agreed Brand, rising—"in cash tonight."

"Rather short notice for such a sum," protestingly. "Where shall I see you?"

"At my office."

"Your office—the Advance! No, no. I prefer you to come to my chambers about noon tomorrow. We shall be quite private there."

"I can't wait that long for it, judge. I've got to have it tonight."

"Oh, is it something of that sort? Well, then, come to my house after dinner."

"But I've got to be at my office," insisted the editor.

"I hardly like to go there, Mr. Brand."

"That's up to you, judge. But if you don't come the story goes to press tonight. Well?" with a rising inflection.

"I—"

Judith Bartelmy entered.

"Will you come now, papa?" she asked.

"Just a moment, my dear. I intended to ask Dupuy to dine with us."

"Oh, can't you take him to the club?" she pouted.

"That wouldn't be convenient, my dear. You know we're going to the opera."

He stepped back toward the library. "Mr. Brand, I'll see you again before you leave."

There was a moment's embarrassed silence between Judith and Wheeler Brand as the judge disappeared.

"How do you do, Mr. Brand?" she finally asked.

"How do you do, Miss Bartelmy?" His manner was awkward and strained.

"I haven't seen you all winter." She placed her hands on the back of a chair near a settee.

"No; I haven't been anywhere. I've been kept pretty close at work." He paused. "Won't you sit down?"

She moved to the left and occupied the settee. After a few moments of silence she said:

"It's strange I haven't seen you all winter. I suppose it will be another hundred years before I see you again."

Brand looked intently at her.

"It won't be if you wish to see me any sooner, Judith," and, thus speaking, he leaned over the back of the settee toward the girl he loved.

"Why, of course I wish—er— you were having a talk with father when I came in, weren't you?"

"Yes," rising and stepping back from her.

"Wheeler, come here," the girl asked wistfully. "I want to talk to you."

He moved to a chair close by her side.

"Aren't you beginning to realize that you may have been a bit headstrong?" she said tenderly, looking into his eyes.

"I'm afraid you are getting in very deep. Your friends, most of them, have been patient with you so far, but there's a limit, you know, and you'll lose them."

"I'm sorry."

"Oh, Wheeler"—she was intensely earnest—"is it worth while to let them go just for an idea?"

"A man must act according to his light, Judith."

"And a woman according to hers. Perhaps you don't realize it, but that's what I've been trying to do. You know I've been alone a great deal of my life. I've had more responsibility than most girls. I've had to decide things for myself and the younger ones and do the best I could for all of us."

"Yes, I know that. There's nobody like you, Judith."

"I'm glad if you think that."

"I'll always think that, Judith," he exclaimed passionately. "And I'll always feel all that I've lost."

"Haven't you brought it on yourself?" she asked quickly.

Brand seized both her hands, and in a tempest of emotion, long suppressed, he rose and bent over her.

"Oh, dearest, can't we have this one moment?"—he was aroused to a pitch she had never seen him reach before—"even if we never have another, without thinking of anything except—except each other?" He seated himself close to her.

"Wheeler, I've a little story I want to tell you," she said fondly, yet sadly. She spoke as one pleading in a vital cause. "Once upon a time there was a girl, and she rather liked a somewhat gloomy young man. But one night something happened and then—they didn't speak for a long time—oh, a very long time. But there were other young men, and one of them has asked to call tomorrow afternoon at 5 o'clock."

PRINCE FIGHTS TAILOR'S BILL

PRINCE WILLING TO PAY, BUT WANTS TO GET SATISFACTION.

Husband of Mrs. Josephine Smith Declares His Trunks Were Seized.

IS FRENCH AGAINST IRISH

Paris, Jan. 19.—Prince del Drago, who married Mrs. Josephine Smith, the owner of the Lion brewery of New York, has just engaged Lawyer Chartier, of No. 34 Avenue de l'Opera, to fight Joseph Cavanaugh's suit against him for clothes supplied to him.

The prince is willing to pay his tailor's bill provided his honor is vindicated and he is granted satisfaction for the humiliation of being sued for the cost of a lot of mere clothes by an ordinary tailor—satisfaction for a humiliation, such as only Lel Drago can suffer, having the proud blood of centuries of noted ancestors back to Rudolph de Dragonibus, governor of Assisi, in 1133, coursing in his veins.

But the "ordinary tailor," with the fighting blood of the Irish, that comes from a long line of descendants back to MacMurrough Neavannah, a great warrior of Leinster, whose descendants have always been regarded as being at least of near royal blood, is as positive of his rights as the proud prince. So it must be a battle to the bitter end between the prince and tailor.

Unfortunately, as the French laws provide no extraordinary practice for battle royals, the ordinary means employed by common mortals had to be resorted to, so the prince retained Lawyer Chartier.

The fight is made against the seizure of his trunks at the Hotel Astoria last September before he left for America.

The prince obtained the release of his trunks by depositing 2,600 francs with Cavanaugh's lawyer, E. D. Bleville. This sum does not represent the amount sued for, but it was fixed by the president of the court as a security for the creditor until the case could be decided in the courts. The prince does not deny the indebtedness; in fact, he has made a proposition to pay provided Cavanaugh allows him one franc damages, but the tailor, being fortified with letters from the prince, refuses to do this.

A man boasts of his past, and a woman is proud if she hasn't any at all.

He was very serious about it. You see, the girl has been waiting so long that she's beginning to be afraid—afraid that—er— Oh, Wheeler, why won't you drop it all? It's not too late!"

She rose to her feet, still with her hands in his, and in another moment he stood beside her. He threw both his arms around her and held her close to his bosom.

"Judith," he whispered passionately to her.

"Why don't you call tomorrow at 4?" was her response.
As they stood there in fond embrace, her lips raised to his, Judge Bartelmy appeared at the extreme end of the room. He gave a sudden start as he saw their oblivion to all else but themselves. His cold blue eyes shone with the satisfaction that filled him. He had done a good day's work, he congratulated himself. He had arranged to buy Brand's silence for $10,000 when it was really worth twice that sum to a man of the United States judge's wealth and standing. Why, he had originally planned to give Brand twice that sum as a wedding present when he married Judith.

"Mr. Brand," the judge declared, "I will call at your office tonight at 9 o'clock. Judith, I am ready to go now."

The couple drew apart in confusion. She walked away slowly from her lover, her eyes wet with tears. She went out of the room with her father, leaving Wheeler Brand standing in the middle of the room, overcome by the unconquerable sorrow that filled his soul.

The towering figure of Nolan appeared from the library. He stepped toward the editor.

"Well, did you put it through?" he asked.

Brand threw back his head, and his misery "I put it through," was imprinted in every line of his face. Yet by superhuman will power he forced his voice into steadiness as he said:

"Yes—I put it through."

Are All Advertised Medicines Fakes?

As well ask "Are all doctors quacks?" or "Are all lawyers shysters?" We all know there are ignorant quacks; does that prevent anyone calling in his good, old family physician in case of need and trusting him? There are shysters, but there are also honorable lawyers to whom we confidently trust our lives and fortunes.

There are fake medicines advertised; but they are not fakes because they are advertised. A good thing is worth advertising; we all want to know about it. The more a bad thing is advertised, the worse for it in the end.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is no fake; yet it is advertised; it advertises itself; and those who have used it are its best advertisers, and that free of cost.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has proved its merit by more than thirty years general use. This simple, old-fashioned remedy, made from roots and herbs, has become the standard medicine for ailments peculiar to women,—its fame is world-wide.

Read this plain, honest statement of what the medicine did for one woman; her own words; if you doubt, write and ask her.

Upper Sandusky, Ohio.—"Three years ago I was not feeling well and could hardly drag myself along. I had such tired feelings, my back hurt, my sides ached, I had bladder trouble awfully bad, and I could not eat or sleep. I had headaches, too, and became almost a nervous wreck. My doctor told me to go to a hospital. I did not like that idea very well, so when I saw your advertisement in a paper one day, I wrote to you for advice. I have done as you told me. I have taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, Blood Purifier, and Liver Pills, and used the Sanative Wash, and now I have my health. We keep your medicine always in the house."—Mrs. Benj. H. Stansbery, Route No. 6, Box 18, Upper Sandusky, Ohio.

The makers of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound have thousands of such letters—they tell the truth, else they could not have been obtained for love or money. This medicine is no stranger—it has stood the test of years.

For 30 years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has been the standard remedy for female ills. No sick woman does justice to herself who will not try this famous medicine. Made exclusively from roots and herbs, and has thousands of cures to its credit.
If the slightest trouble appears which you do not understand, write to Mrs. Pinkham at Lynn, Mass., for her advice—it is free and always helpful.

MILLIONAIRE WHO WORE RED TIES GOES TO REWARD.

Chicago, Jan. 19.—John Farson, a millionaire and widely known banker, died today at his Oak Park home. Heart disease is assigned as the cause. But his family retained a toxicologist to make the cause certain. He was sick three days. John Farson, Jr., hired a special train in New York that cost $3,000 and made the run in 17 hours. He arrived three hours before death. The deceased was noted for eccentricity of dress. For years he invariably wore red ties. Once he appeared in white evening clothes and a red tie.

NO MORE GRAY HAIR.

It is easier to preserve the color of the hair than to restore it, although it is possible to do both. Our grandmothers understood the secret. They made and used a "sage tea," and their dark, glossy hair long after middle life was due to this fact. Our mothers have gray hairs before they are fifty, but they are beginning to appreciate the wisdom of our grandmothers in using "sage tea" for their hair, and are fast following suit. The present generation has the advantage of the past in that it can get a ready to use preparation called Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur. As a scalp tonic and color restorer, this preparation is vastly superior to the ordinary "sage tea" made by our grandmothers, and it can be bought for 50 cents and $1 a bottle at almost any first-class drug store, or will be sent direct by the Wyeth Chemical Company, 74 Cortlandt St., New York City, upon receipt of price.

not eat less than we do now, as some people are trying to prove, but we put on less style. Style is all right for those that want it. I have no fault to find with it at all, but I wish to remark that it comes high and must be paid for. This increase in style, 'dog' show, display, or what ever you want to call it, extends from the top to the bottom of the scale of life.

"Now, as an illustration, I have a Pole working for me on my place down on Long Island. He has several children. The other day I met the crowd of youngsters down on the place—on a week-day, too, mind you,—and every last one of them was wearing patent leather shoes. That workman of mine has a new $60 steel range in his kitchen and a piano that he got on time payments. Of course I am glad that he feels that he can afford all these things, but in the old days they were not purchased by the people of limited means. The children, instead of wearing patent leathers, went barefoot in the summer and in the winter wore heavy, serviceable cowhide shoes that would last them years. Only the very well to do thought they could have pianos, and a $15 or $20 stove was good enough for almost anyone's kitchen.

"When I was younger and had to have things from the grocery store, I went after my purchases. Now the customer of the grocer or the butcher or the baker insists on having his pound of butter, his mutton chops, or his loaf of bread delivered at his door. The dealer must charge for his horse, his wagon, his harness and his deliveryman. Someone must pay the bill, and of course it comes out of the goods—the customer that gets the benefit of the extra service is the one that should stand for it, and he does whether he likes it or not. "If people would patronize the little storekeepers in and out of the way corners of the cities they would find that they could reduce their cost of living a good bit. For instance, I bought this pair of shoes I am wearing for $4 in a store down by the navy yard where the rents are low. If I had got the same shoe up on Pennsylvania avenue, or F street, where the more aristocratic do their buying, I would have paid $5 or $5.50 for it. The man I got the shoes from does not maintain a delivery wagon, has no expensive office force to maintain, and has no help except one young man who acts as general assistant, sweeper-out and the boss's understudy.

"The cost of milk has climbed steadily during the last few years because people insist on more style in the manner in which it is brought to them. I am a practical dairyman and I know what I am talking about. In the old days there were no bottles, no pretty wagons, no tuberculin tests to be paid for. The milk was delivered from door to door by the man or woman carrying the product in large cans or buckets. Now the milkman has a $200 horse, a $250 or $300 wagon, a $75 set of harness on the horse, and stables and aseptic cans, sterilized bottles, Pasteurizing apparatus in his storage house, and goodness knows what else to make the cost mount skyward. Every bottle that is broken, every germ-proof paraffin-coated bottle cover that is used, costs money and the customer must pay the bill.

"The same wild race after style is found all over the country. The farmer has got to have the latest and prettiest labor-saving devices. Their rubber-tired runabouts must be equipped with the last up-to-the-minute trimmings, and pretty soon the $400 runabout goes into the loft of the barn in order to make room for the $1,000 automobile roadster or the $3,000 touring car. As a result of all this style, the farmer must charge more for his meat, his vegetables and his grain if he is going to keep his head above water. One of these days I'm going to get up on the floor of the house and express a few of my views along these lines. I may not be able to increase the visible supply of oratory by the effort, but I'll bet I can give them a few ideas on the real reason for the increased cost of living."

"WHAT A DELICATE CHILD"
is the remark we often hear when referring to little ones whose faces are pale and wan, and limbs thin and spindling.
If mothers in this vicinity only realized how quickly these little ones can be made strong, robust and rosy by our delicious cod liver and iron preparation VINOL, we would not see so many delicate children on our streets. W. B. McPherson, druggist, Paducah.

DOGS GET DRUNK ON FUMES ESCAPING FROM AUTOS.

Pittsburgh, Pa., Jan. 19.—The Pittsburgh police department, after an exhaustive investigation, has decided that the alleged epidemic of hydrophobia among dogs here is nothing more or less than a plain case of drunkenness among the dogs—drunkenness through the fumes of gas escaping from automobiles.
Captain of Police Ford declares he has discovered the dogs became drunk like the chauffeurs who speed. Both get intoxicated, he says, on gasoline fumes. The captain explains that there is a habit prevalent among chauffeurs of drinking gasoline. The fumes from this oil exhilarates the limber and gives him nerve to clip curves and corners.
The dog acquires the gasoline fume drunk habit through running after automobiles. The dog then gets into the same class as the gasoline exhilarated auto driver and does wild and ungovernable things. The dogs are not mad, they're drunk, says the captain.

READ MRS. HERRICK'S SWORN STATEMENT

STATE OF NEW YORK } ss. Rochester, N. Y.

Nancy A. Herrick, being duly sworn, deposes and says: When I was a school girl I had a head of heavy, long, dark brown hair, that was so plentiful, rich and glossy, that it was the envy of many of my young schoolmates, and attracted the attention and remarks of strangers. After I was married and as I grew older, my hair commenced to come out just a little at first, but gradually as time passed it came out more and more, and began to turn gray. I was induced by many good reports heard of Sage and Sulphur, to try a bottle. My hair was quite gray and thin on top when I commenced using Sage and Sulphur, and you may imagine my satisfaction when I found that it was fast coming back to its natural condition, becoming thicker, darker, smoother and glossier than it had been for a long time. I continued the use of Sage and Sulphur and my hair is now in a splendid condition, as heavy and as dark and smooth as when I was a girl of sixteen. From my experience I believe it is one's own fault if they lose their hair, or let it get gray or harsh. It is now four years since I commenced using Sage and Sulphur, and still use it, and my hair still keeps thick, dark, smooth and glossy.

Sworn to before me this 14th day of July, 1922.

Nancy A. Herrick
Notary Public.

GEOLOGICAL COMMISSION.

Organization Will Be Effected Friday—Authorized By Legislature.

Washington, Jan. 19.—In reply to a communication of inquiry, Representative Garret received a letter from Governor Patterson informing him that a meeting of the state geological commission, authorized by the last Tennessee legislature, would be held next Friday for the purpose of effecting an organization under the act creating this commission. It will have authority to expend an appropriation already made for drainage, surveys and other matters specified in the act. This appropriation, however, will not be available until next May. Representative Garret is interested mainly in the geological commission at this time, because through it he hopes to go as surveyor of the lands of West Tennessee.
